

Thursday March 06, 2025

09h00: welcome and introduction

09h05 : Wang Zeyuan, University of Toronto, Ph.D. candidate, Global | Public Health

- Using Mixed Methods to Understand how Infant Formula Marketing, Communication Channels, and Traditional Health Beliefs Affect Exclusive Breastfeeding among Women in Palawan, Philippines

09h25 : Schillings Tobias, University of Oxford, PhD Candidate, Health Economics

- Spaces of equality: The political economy of universal healthcare

09h45 : Ray Saarah, University of Oxford, DPhil Law Candidate, Law

- Radical Feminism on Reconceptualising the 'Designer Vagina' as Violence Against Women: An Argument Supporting the Criminalisation of Female Genital Cosmetic Surgery

10h05 : Paul Diane B., University of Massachusetts Boston, Professor Emerita, History of Medicine

- In the Name of Anti-Eugenics: Invoking the History of Eugenics in the Crusade against Abortion

Coffee break 10h25 - 10h45

10h45 : Gaillard Maxence, University of Oslo, Dr. (researcher), Bioethics - Medical ethics

- The uncertain moral status of embryo models

11h05: Fritzsche Marie-Christine, Institute of History and ethics in Medicine (Germany), Research fellow, Bioethics - Medical ethics

- Ethical Challenges of Data-Intensive Biomarkers in Medical Research, Clinical Settings and Global Health Contexts

11h25 : Cullen Maria, University of Manchester, Post-Doctoral Research Associate, History of Medicine

- The influence of global logistics on clinical norms in humanitarian medicine

11h45 : Bogaert Brenda, CHUV and University of Lausanne, Head of research in medical ethics, Bioethics - Medical ethics

- Affective injustice in healthcare

Lunch break 12h05 - 13h00

13h05 : Bates Victoria, University of Bristol, Associate Professor in Modern Medical History, History of Medecine

Abrams Amber, Future Water research institute at the University of Cape Town, Senior Research Officer, Anthropology

Gomez Rocio, Virginia Commonwealth University, Associate Professor of History, History of Medecine

- Health and Environmental Humanities: An International and Interdisciplinary Collaborative Residency

13h25 : Ambikile Joel, Muhimbili University of Health and Allied Sciences, Lecturer, Medicine - Psychiatry

- The Magnitude of Gender-Based Violence and Related Factors among Female Nursing Students in Higher Learning Institutions in Tanzania

13h45: Altinok Ozan Altan, Center for Ethics and Law in the Life Sciences, Dr., Philosophy

- Bioethics as Global Governance